Sophie Cooch is a certified Intimacy Coordinator and Intimacy Director based in London, UK. She has worked as an Intimacy Coordinator on productions for HBO, Amazon Studios, Netflix, Disney, Paramount, Apple TV, Lionsgate, Channel 4, BBC and ITV.

Sophie is a Bectu IC Registry Level 2 Intimacy Coordinator and is certified by SAG-AFTRA-accredited Intimacy Directors & Coordinators (IDC) in New York, where she trained under leading industry pioneers Alicia Rodis, Claire Warden and Marcus Watson.

She has served as Secretary of Bectu's Intimacy Coordinator Branch since 2023 and has supported the development of the Bectu IC Registry and the National Occupational Standards for Intimacy Coordination.

As a visiting teacher, she has delivered training on intimacy in performance at LAMDA, Arts Educational, National Youth Theatre, Southwark Playhouse and the University of Oxford, where she developed and authored Oxford's Guidance for Performing Intimacy.

She is trained in Trauma-Informed Creative Practices, a certified Mental Health First Aider, and holds a Creative Industries Safety Passport and an Enhanced DBS. She has also undertaken extensive training in equity, inclusion, safeguarding, conflict resolution, and consent-based, harm-reducing communication methods.

Sophie has worked on productions in Italy, Spain, the Netherlands, Lithuania and the Czech Republic. She holds a UK passport and is available for international projects.
